STEERING CLEAR OF COMMITTEES AND RECEPTIONS

China Medical Board Party on Tenyo Has Been Entertained
Past Limit of Endurance

"We are trying to steer clear of reception committees and banquets, because we've been given a continuous succession of them ever since we started from the states," said Dr. Wallace Buttrick, director of the China Medical Board, yesterday, a few minutes before he, Dr. Simon Flexner, Dr. Frederick L. Gates and Dr. William H. Welch resumed their homeward journey on the Tenyo Maru.

"At the present time, plain living and rest appeal to us very strongly, and we shall devote the time between here and San Francisco in drafting the report which we will present to the Rockefeller Foundation, through the China Medical Board, covering our trip."

The four eminent physicians and humanitarian arrivals from China and Japan, after making for the Rockefeller Foundation a complete tour of those countries, looking into medical practice there. The China Medical Board, a subsidiary of the Rockefeller Foundation, is to establish a system of modern American medical education and training in both countries, with the Union Medical College of Peking, which the board has already purchased, as its head. The plan is to train native doctors and nurses in American surgery and medicine, with the most improved equipment available.

Dr. Buttrick said the commission, consisting of Dr. Flexner, Dr. Gates, Dr. Welch and himself was requested by the existing medical school in the lower Yangtze valley to establish as a part of the China Medical Board's system of down-to-date medical education in China, a model medical college in Shanghai. This is now under consideration by the commission, and will be incorporated in the report to be presented to the board in January at New York.

Dr. Buttrick said he now can qualify as an expert in Chinese spelling, although learning the names of Chinese cities was a task in itself.

BOY INVENTS RADIO PHONE

BOSTON, Mass.—David N. Hedlund, a 14-year-old Worcester high school boy, has with crude apparatus perfected a system of wireless telephoning with which he converses with companions a mile distant. Radio conversations were held at least a month before the first practical demonstration of long distance wireless telephoning became public.

Hedlund began his experiments by investing a dime in the construction of home made apparatus. Wireless messages within a radius of 700 miles were received. During one of his experiments, David's voice was carried to the home of his next door neighbor, Oliver Grunquist, another 14-year-old boy, who was experimenting at the same moment with his aerial outfit. This led to the development of Hedlund's wireless telephone.
